Approved Special Privileges Customers may keep the DVDs for use with all subsequent students in their immediate family until they are done with them or leave the foreign assignment permanently. You pay the basic cost for the program to lease the DVDs, but then you can take them with you overseas and not return them until you leave the field permanently or you no longer need them. You can use them for more than one child in your family without having to pay more. The textbooks come with the DVDs and will work for more than one child. However, if you are going to use the DVDs for more than one child then you will need to buy workbooks and consumables for each one. The Student Handouts and the Parent Guides are considered consumable items, but they may be copied for upcoming students or purchased from us at $5 for Student Handouts and $10 for the Parent Guides.
- To qualify for this special option, you must send an email to BJU Press with your account number, name, US address, phone number and contact info for your mission organization so they can verify your membership. They will make a note on your account and adjust the due dates for the DVDs. Email: dinfo@bjupress.com If the family does not have an account, they will need to send their USA address, phone, foreign address, email address and contact information for their sending mission board/church to get the process going.
 - If you already have an account, please send the foreign address (necessary to remain qualified to receive the BJU Press Special Privileges Benefits) and the contact information for your sending mission/church. Foreign addresses can be sent later if not available.
 - Note: The Teacher Editions are not included in the DVD kits with Books.
